

Principles of augmentation of hyperactive forms of the lips

Relevance: hyperactive forms of lips need special attention at augmentation, because lips high mimic activity during procedure can cause filler migration, worsening esthetic result of correction.

Materials and methods: different types of filler migration after lip augmentation are considered. The original classification of hyperactive lip types is presented. A technique of hyperactive lip augmentation is presented.

Conclusion: for optimal results, lip augmentation is important to consider mimic activity.

Anna V. Reznik

MD, dermatologist, head physician, Medical Center «ARclinic»,
Warsawskaya Street, 69/3,
Saint-Petersburg, Russian Federation